

Map and directions to birth

Some homes are easy to find, and online maps are available - other locations do not even show up on a map, and some of our clients who are very rural or live in newer developments cannot be located easily. If you are one of those, please draw a map to the planned location of your birth as best you can. Please include road names, major or minor landmarks, the estimated number of miles or amount of time per each section of the road, and other pertinent information. Keep in mind that we might be trying to locate your house in the dark at night! It may also be necessary, though the likelihood is small, that an ambulance may need to make the trip too. Please fill this out, photocopy it, give one copy to us, and place the other next to the phone at your house.
